

BUNYAN STUDIES

A Journal of Reformation and Nonconformist Culture

CONTENTS OF BACK NUMBERS

Number 1: Autumn 1988

Roger Sharrock: Temptation and Understanding in Grace Abounding
Richard L. Greaves: John Bunyan and the Changing Face of Popery, 1665-1684
Julia J. Smith: Attitudes towards Conformity and Nonconformity in Thomas Traherne
James F. Forrest: Conspectus: The Critical Reception of The Pilgrim's Progress, Second Part
Roger Thompson: The Bunyan Collections at Bedford Central Library
P. N. Furbank: Parnassus and Conventicle Reconciled
News and Reports; Reviews; Recent Articles on Bunyan

Number 2: Summer 1989

Vera J. Camden: Blasphemy and the Problem of the Self in Grace Abounding
J. H. Alexander: Christ in The Pilgrim's Progress
Stuart Sim: Isolating the Reprobate: Paradox as a Strategy for Social Critique in The Life and Death of Mr. Badman
Marion J. Phillips: Inimitable Bunyan
Kazuko Nishimura: Bunyan's Reception in Japan
News and Reports; Reviews; Recent Articles on Bunyan

Number 3: Spring 1990

Christopher Hill: Bunyan, Professors, and Sinners
Marion J. Phillips: Inimitable Bunyan Stands his Ground
W. R. Owens: Inimitable Bunyan Defended
Donald Mackenzie: Rhetoric versus Apocalypse: The Oratory of The Holy War
Patricia Bell: Thomas Bunyan and Mr. Badman
James Gregory Randall: The Bunyan Collection at the University of Alberta
Valentine Cunningham: Christopher Hill's Bunyan, I: On the Left
John Bossy: Christopher Hill's Bunyan, II: One More Allegory
News and Reports; Reviews; Recent Articles on Bunyan

Number 4: Spring 1991

Obituary: Roger Sharrock, 1919-1990
Kathleen Powers Erickson: Pilgrims and Strangers: The Role of The Pilgrim's Progress and The Imitation of Christ in Shaping the Piety of Vincent van Gogh
Richard L. Greaves: 'To Be Found Faithful': The Nonconformist Tradition in England, 1660-1700
David Hayton: Sir Charles Sedley's Prayer; or, The Repentant Rake
Alan F. Cirket: The Bunyan Museum, Library, and Free Church, Bedford
P. N. Furbank: Pilgrim's Progress on the Stage
News and Reports; Reviews

Number 5: Autumn 1994

David Gay: James F. Forrest: The Preceptor as Scholar and Teacher
Arlette M. Zinck: Selected Publications of James F. Forrest
Juliet Dusinberre: Bunyan and Virginia Woolf: A History and a Language of their Own
Thomas S. Freeman: A Library in Three Volumes: Foxe's 'Book of Martyrs' in the Writings of John Bunyan
Arleane Ralph: 'They do such Musick make': The Pilgrim's Progress and Textually Inspired Music
Maxine Hancock: Bunyan as Reader: The Record of Grace Abounding

Number 6: 1995/1996

N.H. Keeble: 'Till one greater man/ Restore us ...': Restoration Images in Milton and Bunyan
P.J.H. Titlestad: The 'pretty young man Civility': Bunyan, Milton and Blake and Patterns of Puritan Thought
Arlette M. Zinck: 'Doctrine by ensample': Sanctification through Literature in Milton and Bunyan

Richard Terry: 'Metempsychosis': A Metaphor for Literary Tradition in Dryden and his Contemporaries
Robert Manning: The Pilgrim's Progress: A Vindication and Celebration of Vaughan Williams's Neglected Masterpiece
Jacques B. H. Alblas: The Bunyan Collection of the Vrije Universiteit, Amsterdam
News and Reports
Review Article
David Walker: Language, Genre, and Revolution
Reviews

Number 7: 1997

Dissenting Women in John Bunyan's World and Work

guest edited by Vera J. Camden

David G. Mullan: Mistress Rutherford's Narrative: A Scottish Puritan Autobiography
Patricia Demers: 'I could wish my tongue were as the pen of a ready writer': The Fragility of Hope in Elizabeth Major's Honey on the Rod
Katherine Gillespie: Anna Trapnel's Window on the Word: The Domestic Sphere of Public Dissent in Seventeenth-Century Nonconformity
Marilyn Serraino Luecke: 'God hath made no difference such as men would': Margaret Fell and the Politics of Women's Speech
Margaret Soenser Breen: Christiana's Rudeness: Spiritual Authority in The Pilgrim's Progress

Number 8: 1998

David Walker: Bunyan and the Body and Kingdom of Christ, 1656-1663
Benjamin Lyle Berger: Calvinism and the Problem of Suspense in The Pilgrim's Progress
Nick De Marco: Structural 'Pliability' and Narratological 'Diffidence' in The Pilgrim's Progress
David T. Priestley: Churchman or Evangelist? John Bunyan among the Conventiclers
Stuart Sim: Bunyan, Lyotard, and the Conflict of Narratives (or, Postmodernising Bunyan)
News and Reports; Reviews

Number 9: 1999/2000

Maxine Hancock: Folklore and Theology in the Structure and Narrative Strategies of The Pilgrim's Progress
Beth Lynch: 'Rather Dark to Readers in General': Some Critical Casualties of John Bunyan's Holy War (1682)
Anne Dunan: The Life and Death of Mr Badman as a 'Compassionate Counsel to all Young Men': John Bunyan and Nonconformist Writings on Youth
Glyn Hughes: Barry Burman's The Pilgrim's Progress
News and Reports; Reviews

Number 10: 2001/2002

Patricia L. Bell: Agnes Beaumont of Edworth
William W. E. Slights: Bunyan on the Edge
Galen Johnson: Suicide and the Keys of Escape in Bunyan and Donne
Sophie Oxenham: 'That I may tye myself under mine own handwriting': Reading and Writing Salvation in the Diaries of Oliver Heywood and Isaac Archer
News and Reports; Reviews

Number 11: 2003/2004

Feminine Authority, Agency and Identity in Bunyan's England

guest edited by Vera J. Camden and Kimberly S. Hill

Jean Graham: 'Tell All Men': Bunyan and the Gendering of Discourse
Sylvia Brown: The Reproductive Word: Gender and Textuality in the Writings of John Bunyan
Katherine Gillespie: Mary Rowlandson's 'Restoration' and the English Restoration
Maxine Hancock: Identity, Agency and Community: Intimations and Implications of Emerging Literacy for Women in The Pilgrim's Progress, The Second Part
Vera J. Camden: Attending to Sarah Wight: 'Little Writer' of God's Wonders

Number 12: 2006/2007

Mary Ann Lund: Bunyan and the Tradition of 'Pastoral' Writing in Early Modern England
Stuart Sim: 'The Wilderness of this World': Bunyan and the State of Nature
Michael Davies: Shaping Grace: The Spiritual Autobiographies of John Bunyan, John Newton, and William Cowper
Kenneth Chong: Enchanting the Reader in The Pilgrim's Progress

David Gay, The Nameless Instrument: Bunyan's Representation of Prayer in The Holy War
Daniel V. Runyon: The Holy War: Sanctification as Spiritual Warfare
News and Reports; Reviews

Number 13: 2008/2009

Anne Dunan-Page: 'The Portraiture of John Bunyan' Revisited: Robert White and Images of the Author
Kirsty Milne: 'The Miracles They Wrought': A Chapbook Reading of The Pilgrim's Progress, with an Edited Transcript of The Pilgrims Progress to the Other World (1684)
P. J. H. Titlestad: From Beza to Bunyan: The Pilgrim Road Mapped?
Ken Simpson: Toward a New Monumentality: Hans Feibusch's Pilgrim's Progress Murals
Galen K. Johnson and Tabatha Raiees-Dana: John Bunyan Bibliography, 1988–2008
News and Reports

Number 14: 2010

Nick Davis: Bunyan with Mandeville: Allegory, Originality and the Superseding of Collective Experience in The Pilgrim's Progress
Vera J. Camden: The Unbearable Inner Light: John Bunyan's Controversy with the Quakers
Maxine Hancock and Arlette Zinck: Baxter, Bunyan and a Puritan Reframing of Ageing
Daniel V. Runyon: Luther's Influence on Bunyan's Use of Allegory
Michael McGiffert: John Bunyan, Federalist: Of Parchment Rolls and Covenants
Gennady Kosyakov: Bunyan in Russian Literature
Peter Kozdrin: Bunyan and Puskin: A Cross-Cultural Dialogue
Andreea Mingiuc: Mary Rowlandson's Captivity Narrative: A Bunyanesque Journey towards Redemption
News and Reports; Reviews

Number 15: 2011

Reading the Bible in Early Modern England
edited by W. R. Owens

Femke Molekamp: The Geneva and the King James Bibles: Legacies of Reading Practices
Michael Davies: The Wilderness of the Word: John Bunyan and the Book in Christian's Hand
Jeremy Schildt: Reading the Bible in Seventeenth-Century England: A Nonconformist Case-Study
W. R. Owens: Sequential Bible Reading in Early Modern England
Roger Pooley: Proving Things from the Bible: The Case of the Anti-Atheists
Iain Taylor: Bunyan, Bible Commentaries, and the Unpardonable Sin
News and Reports
Nathalie Collé-Bak: Bunyan's Pilgrim's on Canvas, on Stage, in the Cellar, and in the Art Gallery: The History, Loss and Renaissance of the Moving Panorama of Pilgrim's Progress
Review Article
W. R. Owens: The King James Bible and its Influence: Quatercentenary Studies
Reviews

Number 16: 2012

Jeremy Tambling: Bunyan and Things: A Book for Boys and Girls
Nathalie Collé-Bak: Spiritual Transfers: William Blake's Iconographic Treatment of John Bunyan's The Pilgrim's Progress
Vincent Newey: Mark Rutherford and John Bunyan: A Study in Relationship
David Walker: 'That Godly and Royall Childe': Milton and the Edwardian Reformation
David Gay: 'Differing Spirits': Jeremy Taylor on Prayer and Poetry
Barry Hall: Conflict, Closure, Dilemma: Bunyan's Grace Abounding
Tuija Laine: John Bunyan's Long Way to Sweden and Finland in the Eighteenth Century
News and Reports; Reviews

Number 17: 2013

William Hale White ('Mark Rutherford'), 1831–1913
edited by W. R. Owens

W. R. Owens: William Hale White, Nonconformist and Novelist
Valentine Cunningham: Mark Rutherford and the Plight of the Dissenting Aesthete
Roger Pooley: The Revolution in Tanner's Lane: The Honesty of Dissent in Politics, Religion and the Family
Max Saunders: A Mysterious Self-Portrait

Catherine R. Harland: William Hale White and Literary Interpretation
Vincent Newey: Centring Bunyan: Macaulay, Froude, Hale White
Jean-Michel Yvard: William Hale White as a Religious Agnostic
Nicholas Jacobs: Notes on Two European Scholars of William Hale White: Hans Klinke and Ursula Buchmann
Micheal Brealey: An Early Scholar of William Hale White: Henry Arthur Smith (1914–1969)
Mark Crees: A Moment More: Beside Mark Rutherford's Grave
News and Reports; Reviews

Number 18: 2014

Michael Davies: When Was Bunyan Elected Pastor? Fixing a Date in the Bedford Church Book
Kathleen Curtin: Identification and Difference in John Bunyan's Reading of Reformation History
Margaret Sönser Breen: The Pilgrim's Art of Failure and Belonging – Dialogues between Bunyan and Queer Studies
Shannon Murray: Playing Pilgrims: Adapting Bunyan for Children
Julie Coleman: The Manufactured Homespun Style of John Bunyan's Prose
News and Reports; Reviews

Number 19: 2015

Religion and Politics in Bunyan's Writings

edited by David Walker

David Walker: Introduction
N. H. Keeble: Bunyan's King
Sarah Marie Ritcheson: Millenarianism and the Restoration Politics of Active Waiting in Bunyan and Milton
Laura L. Knoppers: Bunyan's Judges
Christopher Caughey: John Bunyan and Variegated Antinomianism
David Gay: The Name of the Prayer in The Holy War
News and Reports; Reviews

Number 20: 2016

Dissenting Hands

guest edited by Michael Davies, Anne Dunan-Page, and Joel Halcomb

Michael Davies, Anne Dunan-Page, and Joel Halcomb: Showing Dissenting Hands
Mark Burden and Anne Dunan-Page: Puritans, Dissenters, and their Church Books: Recording and Representing Experience
R. B. Wordsworth: The Church Book of the Cockermonth Congregational Church (1651–c.1765)
Joel Halcomb: Congregational Church Books and Denominational Formation in the English Revolution
Michael Davies: Bunyan's Brothers: John and Samuel Fenne of the Bedford Congregation, 1656–1705
Margaret Bendroth: New England's Hidden Histories: Congregational Church Records in the Digital Age
James F. Cooper, Jr: New England's Hidden Histories: Church Records and Church Practice in Colonial New England
Francis J. Bremer: What Isn't in the Church Books: Evidence of Lay Empowerment in the Transatlantic Puritan Community
News and Reports

Number 21: 2017

Margaret Sönser Breen: Race, Dissent, and Literary Imagination in John Bunyan and James Baldwin
William L. Davis: John Bunyan's Influence on Religious Freedom in the Early American Republic
Christopher E. Garrett: First Among Bunyan's Critics: T. S., Imitative Sequel Writer
Marie Hause: A Nineteenth-Century Woman's Manuscript Response to The Pilgrim's Progress: Louisa Marian Waterman's 'The Pilgrim's Progress, Versified in the Quaint Style of John Bunyan'
News and Reports; Reviews